OCTOBER 2, 2016

MTP: GIULIANI ON NYT TRUMP TAX RETURN REPORT: "THE REALITY IS HE'S A GENIUS"; PLUS: CLINTON CAMPAIGN MANAGER RESPONDS TO LEAKED FUNDRAISER AUDIO

Giuliani on his claim that Clinton is "too stupid to be president" because of Monica Lewinsky scandal: "I'm the right person to level this charge" Clinton Campaign Manager Robby Mook on leaked audio from Clinton primary fundraiser: "The original piece completely mischaracterized what she was talking about"

OCT. 2, 2016 -- In an interview with "Meet the Press" moderator Chuck Todd, Trump adviser and former New York City mayor Rudy Giuliani addressed The New York Times' report on the Republican presidential nominee's tax deduction: "If he didn't take advantage of it, he would have been sued.... The reality is he's a genius."

Giuliani also defended his comments from Monday night, in which he said Democratic presidential nominee Hillary Clinton is "too stupid to be president" because "she attacked Monica Lewinsky": "She was wrong to attack the victim... I'm the right person to level this charge, because I've never made such a charge." When noted that he has his own infidelities, Giuliani responded, "Well, everybody does... I've never ever attacked someone who's been the victim of sexual abuse." Watch the full interview here: <http://nbcnews.to/2dn90fM>.

Clinton Campaign Manager Robby Mook responded to leaked audio of the nominee at a primary fundraiser during the primary season in which she described some of Sen. Sanders' supporters as kids who are essentially still living in their parents' basement. "I really encourage everybody to listen to that full audio," he told Todd. "She was talking about young people that she'd met who were frustrated that they graduated from college and went into an economy where they couldn't find the job they wanted or expected."

Mook also noted The New York Times' report on Trump's tax return, saying "We talk about the rigged system out there. Donald Trump embodies that." Watch the full interview here: <http://nbcnews.to/2dn9r9R>.

Both filmmaker Michael Moore and The Blaze founder Glenn Beck joined the program to address the dearth of elite support for Trump.

Moore highlighted the focus on millennials this election cycle: "To be picking on the millennials is wrong. They didn't create the climate change. They didn't start the war. And, and now it's like they've got to fix this election? No. I hope they vote for Hillary Clinton," while Glenn Beck, founder of The Blaze, characterized voter attitudes right now: "We're not going to lose our houses or our jobs or our country. We're losing something much more important. We're losing ourselves. We're losing our civility. We're losing our decency. We're, we're losing our neighbors and our family." Watch Moore in full here: <http://nbcnews.to/2cKsSLX>, and Beck in full here: <http://nbcnews.to/2cKsSLX>.

Also joining the show for analysis were Bloomberg News' Mark Halperin, VotoLatino CEO Maria Teresa Kumar, National Review's Rich Lowry and The Cook Political Report's Amy Walter.

MTP EXCLUSIVE: BIDEN ON TRUMP ACCUSATIONS: "EMBARRASSED THIS IS EVEN BEING DISCUSSED"; PLUS: PENCE: "WE WILL ABSOLUTELY ACCEPT" ELECTION RESULTS

EXCLUSIVE: Biden on doing more in Aleppo: "I regret that we're not doing something about, you know, genital mutilation in Africa" Pence on sexual assault accusations against Trump: "I wouldn't say anything to disparage any woman who believes they've had an experience like this" Pence calls Trump accusations "a series of unsubstantiated allegations"

OCT. 16, 2016 -- In an exclusive "Meet the Press" interview, Vice President Joe Biden addressed the recent sexual assault allegations against Republican presidential nominee Donald Trump, telling moderator Chuck Todd that he "was embarrassed that this is even being discussed” and that it isn’t disqualifying to more voters because he doesn’t “know how deeply it’s sunk into the consciousness.”

When discussing Syria and not doing more in Aleppo, Biden replied, “The answer is, we regret whenever anyone dies. I regret that we’re not doing something about-- you know, genital mutilation in Africa.” Watch the full exclusive interview with the vice president: <http://nbcnews.to/2dVBkar>.

Republican vice presidential nominee Gov. Mike Pence also joined the network broadcast, telling Todd that he and Trump “will absolutely accept the result of the election.” The Indiana governor also addressed the nine sexual assault accusations against his running mate as “a series of unsubstantiated allegations” and that he “wouldn’t say anything to disparage any woman who believes they’ve had an experience like this.” Watch the full interview: <http://nbcnews.to/2dVyT83>.

A new NBC News/Wall Street Journal poll debuted on “Meet the Press” this morning, showing Democratic presidential nominee Hillary Clinton with an 11-point lead over Trump: <http://nbcnews.to/2ekKeMQ>.

As the campaign winds down, growing splits are emerging in the electorate between the vote in the dense urban suburbs and rural counties. “Meet the Press” takes a look at Ohio’s Monroe County and Virginia’s Arlington County as two examples of where neighbors vote together: <http://nbcnews.to/2ekN8Bt>.

Joining this morning’s show for insight and analysis were The Washington Post’s Chris Cillizza, radio talk show host Hugh Hewitt, MSNBC’s Joy Reid, and NBC News’ Kristen Welker.

Tune in to NBC News this Wednesday for the third and final presidential debate along with pre- and post-debate analysis; the debate will also be livestreamed on NBCNews.com, NBC News apps and Cozi TV.

OCTOBER 23, 2016

MTP EXCLUSIVE: KAINE SAYS HE AND CLINTON “HAVEN’T TALKED ABOUT” PURSUING A VERSION OF TPP IN OFFICE; ALSO: TRUMP CAMPAIGN MANAGER: “WE ARE BEHIND”

EXCLUSIVE: Kaine: “I share those concerns and questions” of other politicians about AT&T/Time Warner merger PLUS: Kaine: “I would want to at least serve until there’s a replacement to be named” in a lame duck Senate Trump campaign manager Conway on nominee’s threat to sue accusers: “It’s a way to defend himself.... He’s just putting people on notice”

OCT. 23, 2016 -- In an exclusive interview with moderator Chuck Todd, Democratic vice presidential nominee Sen. Tim Kaine addressed whether he and former Sec. Hillary Clinton would pursue a version of T.P.P. if elected, noting “we aren’t against trade,” but “we haven’t talked about that in particular.” Kaine said it was not a requirement to come out against the controversial trade deal before joining the Democratic presidential ticket.

On news of the AT&T and Time Warner merger, Kaine said that he shares the “concerns and questions” raised by figures including Sen. Al Franken and Republican presidential nominee Donald Trump: “Less concentration, I think, is generally helpful, especially in the media, but this has just been announced, and I haven’t had a chance to dig into the details.” Watch the full exclusive interview: <http://nbcnews.to/2eHuTGk>.

Trump campaign manager Kellyanne Conway acknowledged the Republican nominee’s place in the polls, telling Todd, “we are behind,” noting that Clinton “has tremendous advantages.” She also addressed how Trump began his rally speech in Pennsylvania yesterday by threatening to sue those who have accused him of sexual misconduct: “It’s a way to defend himself, and remind everybody what he has said many times, which is none of this is true.” When asked why he hasn’t filed suit yet, Conway replied: “We’re busy winning the presidency... He’s just I think putting people on notice that they can’t just falsely accuse them.” Watch the full interview: <http://nbcnews.to/2eHrEPd>.

Todd also looked at what it would take for Democrats to regain control of the House of Representatives in this Sunday’s “Data Download”: <http://nbcnews.to/2ek5Dld>.

Joining this morning’s roundtable for insight and analysis were The New York Times’ Yamiché Alcindor and Tom Friedman, National Review’s Eliana Johnson and Republican strategist Stuart Stevens.

MTP: CLINTON CAMPAIGN MANAGER ON NEW ‘PERTINENT’ EMAILS IN FBI PROBE: “I HAVE ALL THE FACTS... THAT’S WHY WE ARE SO PUZZLED RIGHT NOW”

Robby Mook on if this ‘October surprise’ could cost Clinton the election: “I don’t think so” GOP VP Nominee Mike Pence on Clinton Emails: “Why doesn’t she ask her senior aide to release all these emails?” Pence on FBI Director James Comey: “I’ve always found him to be a straight shooter”

OCT. 30, 2016 -- Robby Mook, campaign manager for Democratic presidential nominee Hillary Clinton, reacted to Friday’s letter from FBI Director James Comey which cited new “pertinent” emails in the Clinton probe and defended senior aide Huma Abedin’s connection to the emails: “I absolutely feel I have all the facts because all the facts were put out there. The summaries of the interviews - the Justice Department said that Huma fully cooperated. That’s, again, why we are so puzzled right now.”

He added: “Abedin cooperated fully with the investigation that concluded this summer. They were all released out to the public at our request. If these are emails from Huma Abedin -- we don’t know if they are, but if they are, we assume they’d have to be redundant because she already turned over all of her emails.” Watch the full interview: <http://nbcnews.to/2eboO6s>.

Mook’s statements echoed what Pete Williams, justice correspondent for NBC News, shared at the top of the program: “They may be duplicates of what they’ve already discovered through the emails she gave to the State Department or that the F.B.I. found on its own.” He added: “They have no idea what’s in these emails.” Watch: <http://nbcnews.to/2e1qtlG>.

Republican vice presidential nominee Mike Pence also joined "Meet the Press," noting that he has "always found" Director Comey "to be a straight shooter." He asked: "Hillary Clinton, when this story broke, I believe she was travelling with Huma Abedin. I mean, why didn't she just turn to Huma and say, 'Put these emails out'?" Watch the full interview: <http://nbcnews.to/2e1jhfF>.

Pence's running mate Donald Trump trails Clinton by six points in North Carolina but is in a dead heat with her in Florida, according to new NBC News/Wall Street Journal/Marist polls released this morning: <http://nbcnews.to/2dSDI32>.

Independent presidential candidate Evan McMullin commented on what might happen if neither Clinton or Trump get 270 electoral votes: "I'm confident that we would be able to compete quite well" in the House. McMullin also said that former Gov. Mitt Romney has not contributed to his campaign. Watch the full interview: <http://nbcnews.to/2e1oofN>.

NPR's Audie Cornish, CNBC's Larry Kudlow, Republican strategist Mike Murphy and NBC News' Andrea Mitchell also joined the program this morning for insight and analysis.

NOVEMBER 6, 2016

MTP: PODESTA: "LEAKERS SHOULD SHUT UP"; SUNDAY EXCLUSIVE: GINGRICH: "WE ARE IN FOR A LONG, DIFFICULT COUPLE OF YEARS" NO MATTER WHO WINS

Clinton Campaign Chair John Podesta Doesn't Answer if FBI Director James Comey Should Resign, Tells Chuck Todd "I've Never Questioned His Motivation" Hillary Clinton Leads Donald Trump by Four Points Nationally in New NBC News/Wall Street Journal Poll Lester Holt, Savannah Guthrie & Chuck Todd Anchor Special "Decision Night in America" Coverage Beginning at 7 p.m. This Tuesday

NOV. 6, 2016 -- In a special election edition of "Meet the Press" from NBC News' Election Headquarters, Clinton campaign chair John Podesta told moderator Chuck Todd that "the men and women of the F.B.I. are doing a tremendous job out here across the country, but the leakers should shut up," in response to the recent Wikileaks email releases of Clinton campaign staff emails, including his own.

When asked if Comey's "mistake" should lead to his resignation, Podesta did not answer, telling Todd, "I've never questioned his motivation, I've just said it was a mistake." Watch the full interview, including his prediction that if Clinton holds onto Nevada and Michigan, she will win: <http://nbcnews.to/2f795Gv>.

Newt Gingrich, Trump adviser and former House speaker, exclusively joined the show and said that he believes, no matter who wins, "we are in for a long, difficult couple of years, maybe a decade or more."

"If Hillary is elected, the criminal investigations will be endless, and if Trump is elected, it will just be like Madison, Wisconsin with Scott Walker," said Gingrich. "The opposition of the government employee unions will be so hostile and so direct and so immediate, there will be a continuing fight over who controls the country." Watch the full interview: <http://nbcnews.to/2fsJPJv>.

The final NBC News/Wall Street Journal poll of the 2016 presidential race debuted on “Meet the Press,” showing Clinton with a four-point national lead over Trump: <http://nbcnews.to/2f707cl>.

Pollsters Bill McInturff and Fred Yang discussed the new numbers with Todd; McInturff noted, “What gives Trump hope is we have a large chunk of people who still say they’re third party, they won’t vote, they’re not decided. That’s unusually large. It’s almost eight, nine, ten percent.” Watch their analysis: <http://nbcnews.to/2f7a3CD>.

Charlie Cook of The Cook Political Report looked at the nine tightest Senate races, predicting which will go Democratic or Republican, noting that he’s not ready to make a prediction when it comes to North Carolina and Missouri: <http://nbcnews.to/2f7gYLZ>.

NBC News’ Andrea Mitchell, Katy Tur, Kristen Welker, and MSNBC’s Chris Jansing, joined the beginning of “Meet the Press” to offer snapshots of the race in battleground states.

The show also featured an all-star NBC/MSNBC roundtable with Tom Brokaw, José Díaz-Balart, Savannah Guthrie, Chris Matthews and Nicolle Wallace for insight and analysis.

NOVEMBER 13, 2016

MTP EXCLUSIVE: SEN. BOOKER: “GOD BLESS THE PROTESTERS,” NEXT DNC CHAIR “NEEDS TO BE A COMMITTED PROGRESSIVE”

PLUS: N.J. Sen. Cory Booker: “Ellison is One of the Names That’s Being Bandied About That Gives Me Hope and Excitement” Trump Campaign Manager Kellyanne Conway Calls on Obama & Clinton: “Say to These Protesters, “This Man is Our President”” “Yes, I Can” Do Both Jobs, Says Minn. Rep. Keith Ellison on Serving in the House and as DNC Chair

NOV. 13, 2016 -- In an exclusive interview this morning, Sen. Cory Booker (D-N.J.) addressed the recent protests against President-elect Donald Trump across the country, telling moderator Chuck Todd: “God bless the protesters.” He added: “I caution anyone who, in their protest, becomes the very thing that they’re protesting against.”

When asked what he’s looking for in the next head of the Democratic National Committee, the New Jersey senator noted that the chair “needs to be a committed progressive. Keith Ellison is one of the names that’s being bandied about that gives me hope and excitement.” Watch the full interview: <http://nbcnews.to/2g7I3jB>.

Kellyanne Conway, the former campaign manager for President-elect Trump, also joined the show, calling on top Democrats to unite behind Trump: “It’s time really for President Obama and Secretary Clinton to say to these protesters, “This man is our president.”” Conway also responded to Clinton casting blame for her loss on FBI Director Comey in a call with donors yesterday: “I just can’t believe it’s always somebody else’s fault. Sometimes you just have to take a look in the mirror and reflect on what went wrong.” Watch the full interview: <http://nbcnews.to/2g7NIWQ>.

Minnesota Rep. Keith Ellison addressed his potential run for the head of the DNC, telling Todd that he can do both jobs. When asked what the reasoning would be if he didn't run, Ellison replied, "Because there's a lot of places that I can serve....I'm looking for a place to serve." Watch the full interview: <http://nbcnews.to/2g7lz10>.

Joining the show this morning for analysis were David Brooks of The New York Times, radio talk show host Hugh Hewitt, Katty Kay of the BBC and former State Senator Nina Turner.

MTP: TRUMP CHIEF OF STAFF PRIEBUS ON MUSLIM REGISTRY: "I'M NOT GOING TO RULE ANYTHING OUT, BUT WE'RE NOT GOING TO HAVE A REGISTRY BASED ON RELIGION"

EXCLUSIVE: Sen. Bernie Sanders: President-elect Trump "needs to apologize to the American people" PLUS: Reince Priebus: "There are some people that have to be prevented from coming into this country" Sen. Chuck Schumer on Trump SCOTUS pick: "If he doesn't nominate a mainstream candidate, we're going to go at him with everything we have"

NOV. 20, 2016 -- When asked by "Meet the Press" moderator Chuck Todd if he can "equivocally rule out a registry for Muslims," Reince Priebus, chief of staff for President-elect Donald Trump, responded: "Look, I'm not going to rule out anything. But, but I wouldn't-- We're not going to have a registry based on a religion."

Priebus continued: "There are some people that are radicalized and there are some people that have to be prevented from coming into this country."

The RNC chair also commented on the idea of using the presidency to profit, telling Todd that the president-elect is "setting up a system, a legal system to shield himself from any and all conflicts." Watch the full interview: <http://nbcnews.to/2fdktgt>.

Across the aisle, in an exclusive interview, Sen. Bernie Sanders (I-Vt.) called on President-elect Trump to apologize, telling Todd: "He has said outrageous things and he needs to apologize to the American people. There are people all over this country who are really frightened." Watch the full exclusive interview: <http://nbcnews.to/2fdxarm>.

Incoming Senate Minority Leader Chuck Schumer spoke with Todd on Friday for an interview airing on this morning's broadcast. He voiced hope that the president-elect "picks a mainstream candidate" for the Supreme Court and noted that if he doesn't, the Democrats will "go at the candidate with everything we've got because this is so, so important." Watch the full interview: <http://nbcnews.to/2fdBJC5>.

This week, moderator Chuck Todd spoke with voters of all stripes in Macomb County, Michigan -- a decisive county in this year's presidential election -- to understand the turn in support for President Obama to Trump: <http://nbcnews.to/2gsuUSn>.

"Meet the Press" also paid tribute this morning to PBS' Gwen Ifill, a friend of the program and a former NBC News correspondent: <http://nbcnews.to/2fdBJC5>.

Joining the show for insight and analysis were Bob Costa and Kathleen Parker of The Washington Post, Tom Friedman of The New York Times, and Neera Tanden of the Center for American Progress.

NOVEMBER 27, 2016

MTP: RUBIO: U.S.-CUBA RELATIONS "SHOULD BE CONDITIONED UPON SPECIFIC CHANGES"; PLUS: CONWAY: "PEOPLE FEEL BETRAYED" THAT ROMNEY COULD BE SEC. OF STATE.

Fla. Sen. Marco Rubio on Trump's conflicts of interest: "Something they're going to have to confront" Kellyanne Conway: President Obama and Trump spoke yesterday for "about 40-45 minutes" Ohio Rep. Tim Ryan on Clinton recount efforts: "I would counsel against it"

NOV. 27, 2016 -- Sen. Marco Rubio (R-Fla.) addressed the future of U.S. relations with Cuba after Friday's death of dictator Fidel Castro, telling moderator Chuck Todd that policies with the island "should all be conditioned upon specific changes on the part of the Cuban government," looking at the models of "Myanmar or Burma as an example of how you can condition openings in exchange for democratic changes on the part of the other government."

Rubio said he'll "make suggestions to the Trump administration" when it comes to Cuba. On the topic of the president-elect's conflicts of interests, Rubio noted: "I imagine they're well aware that this is something they're going to have to confront."

Kellyanne Conway, former campaign manager for President-elect Donald Trump, also responded to the conflict of issue question facing the president-elect, telling Todd that Trump "has been talking to his lawyers" and that "he will comply with the law." She disclosed that Trump and President Obama spoke yesterday for "about 40 to 45 minutes" and that "they've been talking regularly."

Conway reacted to Mitt Romney as a potential Secretary of State in the Trump administration: "People feel betrayed to think that Governor Romney, who went out of his way to question the character and the intellect and the integrity of Donald Trump, now our president-elect, would be given the most significant cabinet post of all, Secretary of State."

Rep. Tim Ryan (D-Ryan) is challenging House Minority Leader Nancy Pelosi's party leadership and told Todd that Pelosi's offense is that the party is "not winning." Ryan also commented on the recount decision by the Clinton campaign to cooperate with Jill Stein's call: "I would counsel against it.... We've got to move forward. And I think that's the best thing for us to do."

Joining "Meet the Press" from Cuba, NBC News' Chief Foreign Affairs Correspondent Andrea Mitchell reported on the reaction on the ground to Castro's death.

Matt Bai of Yahoo! News, Helene Cooper of The New York Times, Mark Murray of NBC News, and Danielle Pletka of the American Enterprise Institute the show's roundtable this morning for insight and analysis.

DECEMBER 4, 2016

MTP: VP-ELECT PENCE: TRUMP'S CALL WITH TAIWAN WAS "COURTESY," "WOULDN'T EXPECT" OUTREACH TO CHINA TO CALM WATERS

PLUS: Indiana Gov. Mike Pence: "Up to the President-elect" if Petraeus' mishandling of classified information disqualifies him to be State Sec. Former Trump campaign manager Kellyanne Conway: "We are the ones who understood America" Former Clinton pollster Joel Benenson: "We have to rebuild at the state levels"

DEC. 4, 2016 -- In an interview this morning with "Meet the Press" moderator Chuck Todd, Vice President-elect Mike Pence said that President-elect Trump's "call from the democratically-elected leader of Taiwan" was "a courtesy call." When asked if the administration-elect would be reaching out to the Chinese government this week to calm the waters, Pence replied, "I wouldn't expect so. But to be honest with you, the waters here seem like a little bit of a tempest in a teapot."

The Indiana governor also addressed the possibility of former Gen. David Petraeus in the role of secretary of state, telling Todd that it will be "up to the president-elect" if Petraeus' mishandling of classified information disqualifies him for the position. "The president-elect will weigh that against the backdrop of an extraordinary career in military service, whether it's in the role of Secretary of State or another role in this administration," he added.

Andrea Mitchell, chief foreign affairs correspondent for NBC News, emphasized the weight of the Taiwan phone call in a panel discussion following Pence's interview: "The point is the conversation happened. And even here, someone as careful as Mike Pence referred to her as the president of Taiwan. That's a no-no."

Kellyanne Conway, former campaign manager for President-elect Trump, and Joel Benenson, former pollster for Democratic presidential nominee Hillary Clinton, joined the network broadcast to reflect on a heated discussion earlier this week at Harvard's traditional election postmortem. Conway noted, "The fact is that we are the ones who understood America," while Benenson underscored that the Democratic Party has to "rebuild at the state levels." Benenson also added that, in the last four weeks of the election, he would have asked "for a faith forum to hear Hillary Clinton and Donald Trump both talk about their roots in faith and the strength of hers, which I think are dominant."

In addition to Andrea Mitchell, Rich Lowry of The National Review, Heather McGhee of Demos, and Amy Walter of The Cook Political Report also joined the show for insight and analysis.

Adam Schiff (D): “It was a mistake” for the Obama administration to not come out as definitively before the election with reports of Russian interference.

DEC. 11, 2016 -- Reince Priebus, chief of staff to President-elect Donald Trump and outgoing chair of the Republican National Committee, told “Meet the Press” moderator Chuck Todd that, when it comes to the reports of Russian interference in the election, “I just don’t know whether it’s true or not.”

Priebus continued: “You have no idea whether the hacking even influenced the election.... I don’t know who did the hacking.” When asked if the president-elect wants a congressional investigation on the matter, he replied, “I don’t know what investigations he wants.” The chief of staff also asserted “the R.N.C. was not hacked.” Watch the full interview: <http://nbcnews.to/2gOJRe5>.

Rep. Adam Schiff (D-Calif.), ranking member on the House House Permanent Select Committee on Intelligence, disagreed: “The circumstantial evidence, which is all I could talk about publicly, is so profound that you’d really have to believe that, to accept Reince Priebus’s argument, that the Russians aren’t capable of hacking Republican institutions.” Schiff, who joined the program exclusively, noted that “it was a mistake” for the Obama administration to not come out with reports of Russian interference as definitively before the election. Watch the full interview: <http://nbcnews.to/2gOJKiD>.

“Did the Russians take some actions to try to help him?” said Mike McFaul of Trump. “I think the evidence is circumstantial enough. The former ambassador to Russia also shared doubts about Exxon Mobil CEO Rex Tillerson as a potential Secretary of State for the Trump administration: “The Obama administration rightly sanctioned Russian companies, including Igor Sechin, the CEO of Rosneft, ExxonMobil’s partner. We can’t just reverse those sanctions in the name of economic interests now, unless Russia changes its behavior.... Initially, this is disturbing to me.” Watch the full interview: <http://nbcnews.to/2gOJkbO>.

DECEMBER 18, 2016 -- In his first interview since the election, former Clinton campaign chair John Podesta exclusively told "Meet the Press" moderator Chuck Todd: "the first time I was contacted by the F.B.I. was two days after WikiLeaks started dropping my emails," adding: "that was the first and last time" he talked to the F.B.I. about his hacked email account.

Podesta also discussed whether the Trump campaign knew about Russia's efforts, stating: "I would argue that there's very, it's very much unknown whether there was collusion. ... I think really not what Mr. Trump knew, but what did Trump Inc. know and when did they know it, were they in touch with the Russians? I think those are still open questions."

When pressed twice by Todd on whether he thinks this was a "free and fair election," Podesta replied: "I think it was distorted by the Russian intervention. Let's put it that way." Watch the full interview: <http://nbcnews.to/2hMWDKV>

In a Sunday exclusive interview, former Secretary of Defense and former CIA Director Robert Gates said he does not think U.S. leaders have treated the Russian cyberattacks with a sense of urgency, stating: "I think that given the unprecedented nature of it and the magnitude of the effort, I think people seem to have been somewhat laid back about it."

Gates also defended Secretary of State nominee Rex Tillerson's ties to Russia and Vladimir Putin, saying: "clearly the CEO of any US company that does business around the world is going to want to be on friendly relationships with the leaders and governments of those countries where they do business. But being friendly doesn't make you friends." Watch the full interview: <http://nbcnews.to/2i3cNza>

Editorial: “Judge Roy Moore suspended, not removed”

Posted: October 4, 2016 11:31 AM CDT

Chief Justice Roy Moore was suspended for the remainder of his term nine months after instructing Alabama's probate judges to defy federal court orders on same-sex marriage.

The story made headlines around the country and even around the world.

Many would say, “Who cares what others think? We are Alabama. All that matters is what we think, and many think Judge Moore is in the right.”

I will tell you one person who cares, Judge Moore.

This is publicity, and politicians crave publicity. While Judge Moore is a judge today he will be a politician tomorrow, and taking a stand for the religious base in this state will equate to votes when he runs for Governor down the road.

I think that there is even more to this than that.

Judge Moore was suspended and not removed. There is a very big difference between the two. Removed, and he is free to run for office. Suspended, and he is not.

Removed, and Governor Bentley can replace him. Suspended, and he cannot.

By all logic, based on the evidence and the conclusions, Judge Moore should have been removed but some judges voted against removal and unanimously for suspension. Why?

In the end Alabama is in the news for all the wrong reasons. The stance against gay marriage is an impossible one to win, and Judge Moore knew that when he sent that edict to the probate judges nine short months ago.

Maybe he was looking for a different kind of win.

Editorial: “What Should We Expect from Governor’s new gaming commission?”

Posted: October 15, 2016 12:51 pM CDT

Alabama Gov. Robert Bentley announced the formation of an Alabama Advisory Council on Gambling to study the issues related to gambling or lack thereof in our state.

The seven-member committee will have until Jan. 31 to come up with recommendations for how this state should proceed on the issue of gambling. They will examine state and local laws currently governing gaming in Alabama, including the multiple county gaming constitutional amendments and state Supreme Court gaming decisions already handed down and on the books.

Maybe the most telling and powerful information of all that will come out of this study will be the taxes currently being generated from state's that allow gaming. If there's anything that can get a revenue-starved state lawmaker's attention, it's dollar signs.

So what should we expect? I expect the committee to show that other states have set up commissions, laws, and best practices to govern and execute gaming in lawful, professional and profitable ways.

I expect there to be a recommendation from the council that the Alabama counties of Macon and Greene with gaming constitutional amendments already in place should be allowed to legally operate gaming facilities without further disruption from the Alabama Attorney General's office.

And lastly, I expect the tax figures that are gathered showing what other states generate annually from gaming to be staggering.

Most importantly I expect our elected officials to ignore that evidence like they have for years and again not allow the citizens of Alabama to vote on the issue.

Guest Editorial: “Vote YES on Amendment 11?”

Posted: October 11, 2016 10:09 AM CDT

I'm Huntsville Mayor Tommy Battle, and my message today is about jobs, hundreds and thousands of good paying jobs for the citizens of Alabama.

In the past five years, we have had success in attracting industry that results in jobs and capital investment. That success is the result of using special financing tools that help communities afford industry.

In November, Amendment 11 will be on the upcoming ballot. This amendment adds to the tools local government can use to finance roads, sewer, water, land and buildings in mega-sites across Alabama, infrastructure that is necessary to provide jobs. There are no new taxes and no loss of current tax revenues.

Here's how it works. If an industry will invest at least $100 million on a site larger than 250 contiguous acres (that's a big site), local governments can use revenue generated by the industry investment.

The extra revenue coming from increased property values will pay for the cost of landing the industry. Over time, the industry pays for its own incentives. It's a win-win for taxpayers, citizens, and industry.

Why do we need this tool? Because the competition for top-paying jobs is tough and getting tougher. Huntsville has used this tool to bring in thousands of good-paying jobs.

There are more than 80 industrial sites across the state that could potentially benefit from Amendment 11. It's about jobs, prosperity, and a bright future for Alabamians.

Help bring thousands of good paying jobs to Alabama by voting “YES” on Amendment 11 when you head to the polls on November 8.

Editorial Feedback: “Gaming Commission and Roy Moore Suspension?”

Posted: October 13, 2016 2:39 PM CDT

In response to our editorial question, “What should we expect from the governor’s new gaming commission?” all the comments shared a similar viewpoint.

Marie said: “Maybe we should fix the prison system, or solve murders, or maybe try fixing our education system. This is such a waste.”

Harriet commented: “Tax payers money wasted as usual with appointed committees. Victoryland is open, just leave it alone.”

Amy wrote: “The same as always, nothing.”

In response to our editorial about Judge Roy Moore’s suspension from the Alabama Supreme Court, the comments were much more equally balanced.

Shirley said: “He not only should've been removed, he should be barred from running for any other public office, period.”

Kevin commented: “Regardless if you believe in his principles or not, we can't have a judge not following the law. If he doesn't agree with the law, and feels that strongly, then he has to step down and be an activist to change the law.”

Rosie wrote: “You did right Judge. Stand up for what is right, not for what the people think is right. What happened to what God says, or have you forgotten about him and his laws?”

And Danny said: "They suspended him because they did not believe he was guilty of anything, otherwise he would have been removed. It was their tactic to get him out of office and out of their way."

As always, we appreciate your comments.

Editorial: "Almost Over"

Posted: October 18, 2016 1:33 PM CDT

Only a few long weeks and this presidential election will finally be over. I have never been so sick of politics in my life.

The question that we have to ask ourselves is, "How the heck did we get here?" How are these two the choices that we have for President of the United States.

The far right and far left control this process yet 80% of us fall somewhere in between and we have no viable option.

The Democrats have trotted out the worst nominee since Walter Mondale, and she is going to win easily over the reality TV star that is the Republican nominee.

I fully understand, while not completely agreeing, that the far right wanted to change the atmosphere in Washington. They put their saddle on the wrong horse. Donald Trump could actually achieve change but the change may be a crumbling Republican Party.

In the end the 80% have got to become more vocal in the next four years. That involvement will hopefully encourage the best candidates to run for the most important job in the world.

Both political sides have said that this is the most important election in all of our lifetimes. I disagree. That will be the election in four years and the work for real change needs to start now.

Editorial Feedback: "Almost Over"

Posted: October 27, 2016 4:49 PM CDT

Last week I gave an editorial discussing the presidential election and my belief that the two candidates running for the most important job in the world are both poor choices. This editorial received some very heartfelt feedback. Let's take a look.

June Wrote:

"I really do not think you should be saying that this will be a "landslide" victory for Hillary... this is just another media gimmick that Trump has been up against from the get go... we do not care about your personal political views... you should be neutral if anything... very disappointed in the editorial..."

This one from Grant is for all of those who call me a crazy liberal. He writes:

"I am a devoted follower of WSFA, the station's news format, programming and weather reporting. I also follow your editorials. I am increasingly alarmed at the conservative bias that you show. I understand, this is Alabama, a Republican state. But you do have Democrats who work and live among you. Is there no concern for them? Are their beliefs and convictions unimportant to you? Are you trying to divide? Saying that "The Democrats have trotted out the worst nominee since Walter Mondale" is a biased and prejudicial statement and will only further divide. I would appreciate thought, forethought and reason. Not just another reason to change the channel."

Finally, Allen wins the prize this time with his comment:

"I would rather have a root canal than watch the current, thorough, and disgusting news coverage of the current election, or what I prefer to call "The Mission Impossible Marathon." In lieu of the debates, I turn off the television, go outside and go down to the lake and do my laundry in the river beating my clothes on the rocks. Good stress reliever from all the negative sermons. Oh, I am going to vote, it is my civic duty, and yes, my clothes will be clean. Have a blessed day."

All three are great comments and there were many more.

I quick reminder, the comments I make are my own. They are not necessarily the beliefs of anyone other than me here at WSFA. The news is the news and the folks here at WSFA deliver it better than anyone. Editorials are not news... just my views. Thank you all for your comments and have a great weekend.

Editorial: “In The End, You Vote”

Posted: November 3, 2016 10:06 AM CDT

The election is coming on Tuesday. When talking about the presidential race, for many it can't come soon enough. Don't let the absolute mental drain that has been this presidential race keep you from exercising your right to vote. There will be races in each county and municipality that will truly have an effect on your day-to-day lives. Earn your right to voice your opinion by voting.

There are fourteen amendments on the ballot. All of them are important in one way or another, and all of them deserve an educated vote. You can go to WSFA.com mouse over the local tab and click on Decision 2016 to find information on each of the amendments.

There are two amendments that I will be paying particular attention to.

Amendment 2, on the surface, is an amendment that will protect the state park revenues from being raided by politicians. Dig a little deeper though and you see that the amendment also allows for the privatization of some of the more popular and lucrative park areas, or in other words, the privatization of those parks. This was done once before in our not so distant past and for the most part to poor results.

Statewide Amendment 14 is an amendment that will in part help to protect nearly 700 local laws in place today. This was all due to a recent court case that called into question the way the Alabama House of Representatives voted on local bills. In the end voting yes will keep all of those laws on the books. Voting no would put those laws in jeopardy and erase a lot of hard work.

In the end exercise your right. A right fought and died for. A right that most of this world does not enjoy.

Editorial: “Mr. President”

Posted: November 9, 2016 2:43 PM CDT

Well it is over and Donald Trump is now the president-elect of the United States. I am sure that I will get many responses that say “I told you so”.

As a Republican I have made no bones about my disdain for Donald Trump, the candidate. I have said from the start that he did not belong in the presidential arena. Obviously he does. He is our next president.

Mr. Trump did something that I never thought he could do. He ignited more than just the conservative base. He woke up at least a portion of that silent majority that has been sitting on the sidelines for years.

So here we are only a few months away from the beginning of the Trump years.

As a Republican I am happy that the mandate will give conservative ideology a chance to work. As an American I will pray for President-elect Trump to lead well and lead smart. It is his show now and the world is watching.

In spite of all that has been said we all have to hope that he is successful and creates the growth that he has campaigned about. If he does then we will all be the better for it.

Buckle up.

Editorial: “Did You Forget Veteran’s Day”

Posted: November 17, 2016 6:00 PM CDT

The aftermath of President-elect Donald Trump's somewhat surprise victory has been so intense that I'm afraid we haven't paid much attention to other things, such as Veterans Day on Nov. 11 .

There are more than 21 million veterans in the U.S. and more than 400,000 in Alabama. Most of us know more than a few veterans personally, so we have the opportunity to make a meaningful gesture of personal appreciation.

Pick a veteran you know. Take them to lunch. Pay them a visit. Send them a card or give them a call. Just find some way to say you're grateful for what they've done for you personally, and for our country, through their military service.

Veterans' issues were not discussed nearly enough during the presidential campaign, certainly not in the debates, but it's never too late to say thank you in celebration of Veterans Day.

Editorial: "Severe Weather Awareness Week"

Posted: November 24, 2016 6:00 PM CDT

Severe weather and tornados are part of life in Alabama. Gov. Robert Bentley has declared this week Severe Weather Awareness Week for the state. What does this mean to you?

If nothing else it should serve as a reminder to you that severe weather could have an effect on you and your family at any time. The more prepared you are, the better your chances for a safe outcome.

Just in the past five years tornados in Alabama have caused millions of dollars in damage and have taken hundreds of lives, yet most of us don't have a basic plan to help us get through these horrible situations.

Here are a few basic ideas to get you started:

- Pick out the safest place in the home to meet if a tornado warning occurs. Practice with your family several times a year to make sure that everyone knows what to do and how to get to the place quickly.
- Have a survival bag built and stored in that area of the house.
- If you can, purchase a NOAA weather radio. NOAA Radios will provide information from the National Weather Service and if the electricity is out and cell service is down your NOAA radio could be the only thing advising you of a tornados path.
- Download the WSFA 12 News Weather App and make sure other members of your family do as well. Our team will always have the most up to date information.

We all know tornados are a serious threat. Take the time this week to make sure that you and your family are prepared.

Guest Editorial: "Shop Small"

Posted: November 29, 2016 12:14 PM CDT

Sandwiched among last weekend's Thanksgiving Day, Black Friday, football rivalries and Cyber Monday was Small Business Saturday.

More than half of Americans either own or work for a small business, and they create about two-thirds of the new jobs in the U.S. each year.

That translates into a stronger local economy.

Today in Montgomery County alone, small retail businesses account for over 30,000 jobs, and that doesn't include restaurants and entertainment businesses.

Communities are held together by a variety of shared concerns, interests, and necessities, and a healthy economy is necessary for a community to survive.

When you continue to shop this holiday season I urge you to try your local retailer first. Face to face, personal service from people who live in your community is a much better shopping experience.

Shop small whenever you can. It will make a big difference in the economic health of your community.

Guest Editorial: “Facebook and News”

Posted: December 1, 2016 8:12 PM CDT

Facebook is a wonderful thing. It allows us to keep up with friends, to share our photos and videos with family, and even to discover fascinating things from all over the world.

But it is not a reliable source of news, as evidenced by the Facebook "fake news" controversy during the election cycle.

Yet, according to Pew Research, 62 percent of all U.S. adults get news from social media, and 64 percent of them get it from only one site, most commonly, Facebook.

Perhaps the biggest danger of this practice is that Facebook's algorithm puts posts on your feed based on what you like. Imagine if bona fide news outlets only showed you the news you agreed with. Is that really the only news you want to hear? It shouldn't be.

All successful news outlets, WSFA included, use Facebook as well as other social media to let you know some of the stories we're covering, and we will continue to do that. That's part of our job.

Your job is to show good judgment about what you see on social media and not use it as your primary source of the news, certainly not your only source.

Use news sources whom you have grown to trust over time to give you all the news, fairly presented, not just the news you like. We all have that responsibility as informed citizens.

Guest Editorial: “Hunger Doesn’t Take A Holiday”

Posted: December 8, 2016 4:35 PM CDT

On Friday, Dec. 9, our family and friends of the River Region will have the opportunity to help their neighbors in need. As in previous years, the WSFA 12 News tents will be set up in front of the Walmart Superstore on Atlanta Hwy. from 5 a.m. to 7 p.m. to accept your monetary contributions, new toys, and non-perishable food items.

We are honored that the Montgomery Area Food Bank has once again been selected (along with Toys For Tots and the Christmas Clearinghouse) to receive contributions from this event. All these charities do a phenomenal job in helping the less fortunate.

The Montgomery Area Food Bank has the responsibility to feed the “food insecure” in 35 of Alabama’s 67 counties. It is the largest food bank in Alabama.

I once had someone ask if the holidays were the busiest time of the year for us. My response was, “Not really. Hunger doesn’t take a holiday.” It’s a 365 day a year battle we are engaged in. We are acutely aware that without your loyal support, we simply would not be successful in our mission of feeding hope across Alabama to children, adults, and senior citizens.

Each of these groups thanks you for your wonderful support.

Richard Deem, CEO, Montgomery Area Food Bank

Guest Editorial: “Come Enjoy The Game”

Posted: December 8, 2016 1:39 PM CDT

In 2014 the Raycom Media Camellia Bowl outdrew 17 other bowl games in attendance. ESPN said it was one of the most successful inaugural events in its history.

The 2015 telecast had a 73 percent increase in viewership from the bowl game that aired in the same time slot in 2014. ShowBuzzDaily.com said it was the most watched college bowl game and the 6th most viewed telecast on Dec. 19. CBS Sports ranked it as the 11th best bowl game of year.

On a local level, in 2014 the Camellia Bowl played a big role in generating a $25 million increase in spending on goods and services in Montgomery, and in 2015, an additional $15 million. That's a net gain of nearly $40 million.

There will only be 41 college bowl games played this year. That Montgomery, Alabama has one of them at all is still amazing to me, and a tribute to the city, the county, the chamber of commerce, and Raycom Media among others.

The Camellia Bowl is still in its infancy when you consider that the Blue/Gray game was played at Cramton Bowl for over 60 years.

There is a great tradition to be built here in the River Region with this game, and I urge you to be a part of it.

Tickets begin at only $20. And there is a Montgomery high school athlete on each of the teams playing this year.

Come, enjoy the game.

Guest Editorial: "Mary Ellen's Hearth"

Posted: December 12, 2016 2:54 PM CDT

I remember many years ago my wife and I took our young children on a road trip to Disney. We all piled in the car and ten hours later we arrived at our destination tired, cranky and ready for a hot shower, a good meal, and a bed.

We couldn't wait to get out of the car.

Now, imagine for a minute that this car is your home. You are not on a fun road trip. This is where you live! There is no hot shower, good meal, or bed. What a shame that there are people living on the streets of our community today in this very situation.

Fortunately, there are several local organizations working hard to help these families. One of them is Mary Ellen's Hearth, a transitional housing program for homeless women with children.

I have seen first-hand how they offer hope, help, and healing to these families. But, they can't do it without our help, both financially and with our time and talent.

Please visit maryellenshearth.org to learn how to get involved. Or, for information on other agencies in our area serving the homeless community, contact the Mid-Alabama Coalition for the Homeless.

Instead of just counting our blessings this holiday season, maybe we can BE a blessing! What a difference that would make!

Guest Editorial: "What Alabama's False Graduation Rate Says to Students"

Posted: December 15, 2016 11:18 PM CDT

Last week it was revealed that Alabama's huge jump in high school graduation rates between 2011 and 2015 was not accurate, to put it mildly.

Occupational Diplomas were counted as graduates, something not allowed by the U.S. Department of Education. And an unnamed number of local school systems increased their graduation rates by awarding credits that were not earned.

This makes Alabama's education system look bad, but that's not the worst of it.

It is a disservice to those students who earned a diploma, but may not be the worst of it either.

Perhaps the worst thing is what this says to all Alabama public school students and their parents: that it's OK to bend the rules or ignore the facts or cheat or even lie... that the ends justify the means.

Now it's time to say the right thing to our young people: that we admit when we're wrong and we fix our mistakes.

We should hold the system and individuals accountable for these transgressions.

New state Superintendent Michael Sentance has ordered a review and restructuring of the State Department of Education's methods. I hope he gets this problem fixed so that we can go about the business of improving public education, not misrepresenting it.

Guest Editorial: "Christmas Clearinghouse"

Posted: December 20, 2016 12:29 PM CDT

Christmas Clearinghouse, a program of HandsOn River Region, strives to help families working hard to help themselves.

For over 35 years, the Clearinghouse has partnered with local organizations to help address life challenges for families in need during the holidays and at the same time prevent duplication of giving. Approximately 10,000 individuals in the River Region - including more than 8,000 children - are registered and helped annually through this program.

Thanks to the enormous generosity of those who contributed, WSFA's 12's Day of Giving raised over $24,500, collected over 9,660 pounds of food and over 2,300 toys, including 30 bikes.

The success of the Clearinghouse depends on the efforts of thousands of volunteers and the charity of a caring community.

We at HandsOn are truly grateful to everyone who made 12's Day such a success and have helped to provide JOY, HOPE and PEACE to area children and families at Christmas!

Guest Editorial: "Happy Holidays"

Posted: December 22, 2016 9:31 AM CDT

You know, there's nothing wrong with saying "happy holidays" at this time of year. We've been doing it for at least 150 years in America.

There's also nothing wrong with saying "merry Christmas", or "happy Hanukkah", or "happy Kwanzaa" or any other expression reflecting how you believe or what's important to you.

Yet, many who celebrate Christmas take umbrage at the generic "happy holidays", especially when used by the media or in advertising or by public entities.

It is seen as diluting or ignoring the meaning of the birth of Jesus, an event held dear to 75% of Americans. And that's understandable.

But here's a thought. In this age of increasing intolerance, of polarization, of us-versus-them, of political correctness, why don't we use this time of year to accept other's expressions of their joy while sharing our expression of joy with them. We might even learn something new about their celebrations.

And maybe we can even forgive those who try not to offend by being safely generic in their greetings of "happy holidays".

From me to all of you... Merry Christmas.

Guest Editorial: "Report Elder Abuse"

Posted: December 22, 2016 9:34AM CDT

This holiday season you may have visited an elderly family member or friend. But did you pay close attention to their situation?

By one estimate, elder abuse affects as many as 5 million people per year. One study ranks Alabama in the bottom 10 of all states in elder abuse protections.

It generally takes the form of neglect, which can be subtle and sometimes self-inflicted... abuse, which be frightening and go unreported... or financial exploitation, which can be devastating and irreversible.

According to the Alabama Department of Human Resources isolation is a key factor.

DHR suggests that when you visit older family and friends, question them about what's been happening in their lives and listen carefully. Look for signs of neglect, abuse, or, especially, financial irregularities.

DHR says don't be shy about reporting suspected elder abuse in any form. Go to their website to find out how to report possible abuse.

With any luck, we'll all be there one day and will appreciate the help of younger family and friends.

Guest Editorial: "Resolve to be Financially Healthier"

Posted: December 22, 2016 9:36AM CDT

It's that time of year again.

In talking to folks here at the station about their new year's resolutions I heard things such as "less beer, more water", "get a handle on my online shopping", "a new stamp on my passport", and "no more major surgeries."

If you're looking for an aspect of your life to try to improve in 2017 consider this. One report ranks Montgomery 138th among the 150 largest cities in the U.S. in financial fitness. Experian, the credit report company, ranks Montgomery 200th in credit report scores.

Sounds like a lot of us could resolve to be better with our money.

That's easier said than done, I know, especially if you're starting 2017 in financial trouble. If so, there are numerous resources here in the River Region to help you.

One of the best ways to get help is by simply calling 2-1-1. That call will connect you to a trained operator, 24/7, who can direct you to the right financial or other services for your particular situation.

So go ahead, make that resolution and get help making it happen. There's no time like the new year.
